Dear Dr Stone.

First let me thank the CTR for your generous countribution to the conference in Ein Gedi. Yours, as well as others, enabled the conference to achieve the success it did.

Now that it is over I am glad to seat back and finish the last details of the 8th Annual European Conference on Vascular Biology. Looking at our budjet I found ourself somewhat in the red. As many times happends in these conference, there are unforseen expenses, mostly for travel for the invited speakers, cancelations, and reserved rooms for participants who could not come and other unexpected local expenses. Presently, it looks that we have to raise the sum of $6600.- to break even. Therefore, I am writing to various organisations in an attempt to raise this sum. I would not like the CTR to feel obliged in any way, you certainly contributed much as it is. However, if you think you can help, it will be most appreciated and I will make certain that it is mentioned in the next meeting of the organizing committee.

I am glad you were able to come and attend this conference. I hope you enjoyed it and that it gave you some idea what the European Artery Club is all about.

Best regards to you and to Dr. McAllister.

Sincerely yours

Prof. Ishaiahu Shechter
